DENISE COTE, District Judge:

Today, one of our jurors left a voicemail message for my Courtroom Deputy. The juror indicated that the juror wanted to ask my Deputy a couple of questions because the juror felt like writing a letter to me about the case. The message also indicated that the juror had some concerns.

Unless counsel advise the Court by today at 4:00 p.m. that counsel objects to the following course of action, I will instruct my Deputy to return the juror's telephone call shortly after 4:00 p.m. and advise the juror as follows:

- 1) My Deputy is not free to discuss anything that touches upon the verdict with the juror.
- 2) If the juror wishes, the juror may write the Court.

My Deputy will provide the juror with the address for my Chambers.
